

BYU Library Website

The library website (lib.byu.edu) is great for accessing topic-centered research guides. It is also a great resource for finding physical items, such as books, to use in your research.

Click on the arrow (on the right part of the slide) to continue.

Subject Research Guides

Subject librarians have created wonderful subject-specific research guides to aid students in their research. You can navigate to research guides from the library homepage and browse through the various categories. Each research guide contains valuable recommendations from the librarians on resources that can help you gather resources while you research.

Finding Subject Research Guides

Steps:

1. Go to lib.byu.edu
2. Click on “Research Guides”
3. Then scroll and find your subject!

! Remember to login with your BYU netID on the library main page to get access to online resources and place materials on hold.
